Best Products 2004

The best consumer video products of 2004, as selected by the editors of Videomaker.

Value is an important criterion in the selection of Videomaker's Best Products of the Year, and for this reason we give Nady's SRM-10X the award for 2004's best audio mixer. The amount of features and functions you get for the price of this mixer is almost unbelievable. With phantom power, auxiliary sends, XLR inputs, 3-band equalization and small footprint, it's got everything that most professional videographers will ever need, at a price that's probably lower than the combined cost of the cables you'll plug into it.
